

INORGANIC FILLERS INTENDED TO IMPROVE THE MATNESS OF THERMOPLASTIC POLYMERS

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the use of combinations of inorganic fillers intended to improve the mattness of thermoplastic polymer compositions, in particular of fibres obtained from thermoplastic polymer compositions, and in particular the mattness of fibres of thermoplastic polymer compositions intended for flocking.

Fig.: None
